Title and Purpose

A Positive Approach to Dementia Care: Time to Reflect and Recover

What has changed for ourselves and others over the past two and a half years? How can we most effectively recover and move forward? We have all learned many lessons over the course of the pandemic, and it is now time for an honest assessment the current status of dementia care. Through Teepa Snow's engaging teaching style, direct care providers will learn about the ways that prolonged stress affects themselves and those living with brain change. Learners will also explore strategies and techniques that can effectively assess current ability states and support maintenance of function.

Objectives

By the end of this workshop, learners will be able to:

- Identify changes associated with social isolation and stress related to the pandemic
- Describe techniques to assess abilities when brain change is present
- Demonstrate nonverbal and verbal strategies used to encourage function

Who should attend?

Teepa Snow's presentation will be useful to direct care providers who work with or care for those with memory disorders, dementia, and/or Alzheimer's disease: certified nursing assistants, activities and dietary staff, housekeepers, social workers, nurses, long term care personnel and home health care providers. Care settings, home health providers and hospitals are encouraged to register as a team.

About Teepa Snow

Teepa Snow, MS, OTR/L, FAOTA, a registered occupational therapist for more than 40 years, has a philosophy that is reflective of her education, work experience, available medical research, and first-hand caregiving interactions.
